

Dear Valued Customer

We are pleased to announce that Data Sciences International (DSI) has acquired the assets of Buxco Research Systems. DSI is a pioneering biomedical research company focused on pre-clinical systems physiology and pharmacology. DSI is the recognized global leader in physiologic monitoring, offering telemetry, instrumentation, software and services that help advance science.

The DSI team is looking forward to collaborating with you!

The combined DSI and Buxco offering will provide customers with complete respiratory and cardiovascular monitoring solutions backed by DSI's world class service and support. DSI has sales, customer service and technical support representatives worldwide who are prepared to support your needs.

Specifically to the Japanese research community, DSI has a long-time partnership with the distributor Primetech to support your needs. As an exclusive partner for the Japanese market, please direct all sales inquiries to Primetech. You may contact Primetech via phone at 81-3-3816-0851 or sales@primetech.co.jp. For any technical support questions: support@primetech.co.jp. To learn more about Primetech, visit their website at: www.primetech.co.jp.

The DSI team is looking forward to collaborating with you!

Best regards,

Bert Harman
President & CEO
Data Sciences International

Joe Lomask
President
Buxco Research Systems